

Kashrus Conscience West Coast Shopping and Dining

EATING IN AND EATING OUT

Most Kosher consumers are very makpid and careful that the Kosher standards in their home are of the very highest possible. Unfortunately, some find themselves compromising these standards when eating out.

A non-Jewish executive from one of the largest supermarket chains in the world asked me to explain the following incident to him within the realm of Kashrus:

One of his Jewish managers proudly proclaimed to him one day that he “keeps strictly kosher”. The boss was therefore confused when he was invited to a BBQ, held at the manager’s home, where he saw shrimp cocktails, among other non-Kosher foods, being served. When he asked the manager about this contradiction he was told: “I keep strictly Kosher in my home, but that does not include the back porch or backyard”.

As amusing and distant as this seems for most of the Kosher-observant population, unfortunately, there are questionable situations that do occur even among knowledgeable and caring Shomer Kashrus families. The following are some concerns:

At Home: (our own and those we are invited to)

Bishul Akum – Chazal forbade eating many types of food that were cooked by a non-Jew to prevent intermarriage. Ashkenazim can rely on the Ramah that states when a Jew lights a fire (for cooking purposes), or even a pilot light, it is sufficient to negate Bishul Akum (non-Jewish cooking). If a Jew over the age of 10 is keeping an eye on the Kashrus of the kitchen we can assume that the light did not go out and was not relit by a non-Jew. Experience has shown that if left alone, many housekeepers will cook their own non-kosher food in the Kosher oven and clean up well afterwards, not appreciating the damage done. It is imperative to convey to any non-Jew in our home the vital importance of not using the kitchen in our absence. A non-Jew or a non-Kosher keeping Jew cannot halachically be relied upon to assert that the kitchen in one’s absence remained Kosher. Without proper Halachic supervision of the kitchen, Bosor ShNisalem Min HaAyin will occur.

Bosor ShNisalem Min HaAyin – (food that has lost the integrity of its Kosher status) This can occur when a person leaves their home for a time without actual or implied Kosher supervision. If a person, for instance, has a 9-5 job each day, their schedule is predictable and a non-Jew or a non-Kosher observant Jew, left in the home without fear of interruption, may often utilize the opportunity to use the kitchen in a non-Kosher fashion. Therefore, this absence of proper supervision results in a non-Kosher Kitchen, halachically, whether something actually happened or not. Mitigating factors can exist if a person has established “Mirsas”, an atmosphere and situation where the likelihood of substituting the Kosher with non-Kosher is nil and not profitable. Having a security camera, with the non-Jew aware of the surveillance, can help greatly. The most proper way is for a neighbor or someone else to “pop in” randomly at different times of the day. This will accomplish what is called “Yotzei V’Nichnas”, that the Shach, Aruch Hashulchan, Kaf Hachaim and other Poskim allow Lechatchila. In Shulchan Aruch 118 it is emphasized that we are intent on creating “Mirsas” a fear of being caught to prevent any mishaps. The Chelkas Binyomin 118:100 says that a camera that is evident and known to the worker also helps. The Ramah points out in Y.D. 118 that there are times when mitigating factors will make it not viable or profitable for the non-Jew or non-Kosher keeping Jew to switch the Kosher food with non-Kosher, so that the food retains its Kosher status without added security. This will also maintain the integrity of the Kashrus of the home.

Reb Elyoshiv and Reb Moshe say that the utensils in the house need to be Kasherred if a non-Jew was left alone for an extended period of time and was even allowed to cook. at times "Tevias Ayin", which is when a person can access that all of the pots and pans etc. are just as they left them and were not moved, will suffice to keep everything in its Kosher status. When in doubt, before throwing away the meat and re-Kashering the whole kitchen, one should ask a competent Rav.

As long as we treat our Kosher food protection as well as we do our other valuables, such as jewelry, the Kosher status will remain even in our absence.

Insect (Toloyim) checking –

Due to insect consumption consisting of 6 Lavin (Avairos) in the Torah (Vayikra 11:41), this is always a very serious concern. Even triple-washed leafy produce often still contain an unacceptable level of infestation.

Non-Toveled utensils –

There are those who are meticulous concerning their Kashrus observance unfortunately neglect the Mitzvah and necessity of being Tovel their Kailim.

Sefer Bamidbar Pashas Matos Perek 31 Posuk 22 it states: אך את הזהב ואת הכסף את
הנחושת את הברזל את הבדיל ואת העפרת The next Posuk emphasizes אך במי נדה יתחטא

These P'sukim are cited after the war with Midyan, that any utensils made of gold, silver, copper, iron, tin, lead and all types of metal, captured during the war, need to be Kasherred first and then Toveled in a Mikvah before use (Gemorah Avodah Zara 75).

Rashi understands this to be a general Mitzvah from the Torah, to be Tovel utensils obtained from non- Jews. The Or Zarua also states that it is a Mitzva D'Oraisa, and Rav Shlomo Zalman Auerbach says that the Shagas Arye concurs with this opinion. The Ramban says that Tevilas Kailim in general is a Mitzvah from the Rabbonon, but not directly from the Torah. The Mishna B'Rura and Yechave Daas agree. Many Shuls have convenient special Mikvaos for Kailim (utensils) for public use.

Stam Yainam – If wine is not Mevushal (cooked) it too is considered a vehicle for intermarriage and is forbidden when touched by a non-Jew. Hence, Non-Mevushal wine left in a refrigerator needs to be well sealed, in a way that it clearly was not tampered with. According to Reb Moshe Feinstein wine is called Mevushal at a Pasteurization temperature of 175 degrees. According to Reb Elyoshiv and Reb Shlomo Zalman Auerbach the wine must be cooked at a much higher temperature to be called Mevushal. Most Kosher Grape Juice is Mevushal, with the exception of the 51 oz. glass bottles.

Teruma/Maaser/Shmitta on products from Israel –

Due to the Kedusha of Eretz Yisroel, the produce requires additional procedures beyond produce from the rest of the world, such as bug infestation issues, before being ready to eat. The Torah instructs us to take of a certain amount of the produce for Kohanim, Leviim and the poor. The Rambam says that in our times this Mitzva is DeRabbonon. The Raavad disagrees and says that it is still a Mitzvah from the Torah. Therefore, one buying produce in Israel needs to be careful that it has a reliable Kosher certification that all Halachas of Kedushas Eretz Yisroel have been followed. When buying Israeli produce outside of Israel, all the above laws remain in effect. If purchased, one should consult a Rabbinic authority as to how to properly and halachically treat this produce. The Chief Rabbinate of Israel says that, unlike common misconceptions, they do not take Terumos and Maasros before exporting the produce. Since every seventh year in Israel has greater stringencies, the produce should not be purchased without a reliable Hechsher and if a person did obtain this produce they should ask a Rabbi how to conduct a proper disposal.

Non-reliable Kosher items –

With well over 1000 Kosher certifications worldwide, determining which have a reliable Kosher certification is a challenge that requires true dedication. There is a popular gelatin dessert in every market bearing a “K” which contains pork gelatin. One should always consult their halachic authority to determine which Hechsherim meet their standards. A listing can be found at www.kosherquest.org.

Kitchen mix-ups –

Entire sections of the Shulchan Aruch were written pertaining to kitchen mix-ups, such as Bosor B’Cholov, Taaruvos etc. It is beyond the scope of many people to apply all of these laws without having established a good connection to a Rabbi or organization who can deal knowledgeably with it.

OUT OF THE HOME:

Is the caterer/restaurant/acquaintance we are going to dine at the same level of Kashrus as our own home?

Most Kosher certified restaurants today will use buzzwords such as Glatt/Mehadrin etc. However one needs to know if the owner/manager of the establishment is Shomer Shabbos and on site at all times, or, in lieu of that, is there a Mashgiach Temidi (constant supervision) who is truly there all hours that the establishment is open. Generally, a reliable Hashgacha will take care of this. When invited to someone’s house we need to determine if the atmosphere is wholesome and if the food is truly Kosher (encompassing all of the concerns we have stated above).

Were the Kailim Toveled?

A Jewish caterer must be tovel all utensils that are used for his business. Often, caterers have a need to quickly purchase new items and do not have the availability to be tovel them. They often rely on what the Shulchan Aruch states: that if utensils are owned by a non-Jew, or even partially owned by a non-Jew, they do not require Tevila. Some caterers use a debatable method of forever “borrowing” the utensils from one of their workers.

Is insect checking done at your desired level?

In Parshas Shmini (Vayikra 11:41) and Parshas Re'ea the Torah tells us over and over that we cannot eat insects. Often, when eating a salad, if a person, for instance, consumes even one insect, it constitutes 6 Avairos from the Torah. During the times when DDT was allowed and commonly used as a Pesticide, Reb Moshe said in Igros Moshe that insect consumption is not an issue in the U.S. However, now that the pesticides that are allowed to be used by farmers are much weaker, we find that insects have proliferated. Due to this severity and the difficulty of checking large amounts of produce, one must be sure that a competent Yore Shomayim Mashgiach is on top of the checking. Needless to say, a vegetarian restaurant will need a very experienced Mashgiach, or will need to buy pre-checked and certified produce. Triple-washed produce is insufficient. Caterers and restaurants are under a great deal more pressure than a person at home, due to the volume and the immediate and constant need. Organic restaurants are an even greater concern as they generally buy produce that was not exposed to pesticide.

Bishul Akum –

All of the above concerns in a person's home are magnified in a restaurant/catering if the Mashgiach or Jewish owner leaves for a while and puts the non-Jews in charge.

Is there Bosor ShNisalem Min HaAyin? Airline meals/ restaurant deliveries –

Were the seals on the food intact when delivered ? if not, see above. Numerous "Kashrus scandals" have occurred over the past few years by the lack of close, constant supervision over deliveries and shipments sent and received.

Is the yogurt store certified by a Mashgiach or by non-Jews?

Aid Echad Ne'Eman B'Issurim – One Shomer Shabbos Jew can attest to the Kosher status of a product. However, in most cases, a non-Jew does not share this capability. When a non-Kosher supervised yogurt store puts up signs claiming that they are using Kosher ingredients it is of course meaningless and usually not true. There are exceptions to this rule in other venues. These exceptions include unflavored water, pure fruits and vegetables, milk, franchise products and more. In those cases one can assume that what was claimed is accurate due to the compelling circumstances even when there is no local, onsite Mashgiach. Even in the above cases one should consult with their rabbi if and when they can use a product such as slurpees, fountain soda, coffee etc. without local Kosher supervision.

Is the atmosphere kosher? i.e. cruise ships, hotel, party etc.

In Sefer Devorim Parshas Re'eh 14:8 the Torah singles out the pig as one of the animals that is not Kosher despite its "appearance" as Kosher, since it has split hooves. A common Yiddish idiom for a deceitful person is "Chazer Fissel" , which means "pigs feet". The reasoning behind this is that at first glance the pig looks Kosher, as it seems to demonstrate by lying on its side, showing everyone its split hooves. However, upon closer inspection, one sees what the Torah points out, that internally it does not chew its cud and therefore is not a Kosher animal. Chazal tell us to take the message from this that the Torah wants us to be Kosher externally as well as internally. This would preclude having a "food Kosher, but atmosphere traif" party/cruise/resort that is intrinsically not "Kosher" in other aspects.

Are they careful not to mix meat with fish?

One of the more exciting culinary experiences at a Kosher resort/cruise is the Grand Kiddush, Midnight Shmorg etc. Extra care must be taken at these events to use separate plates for the fish and the meat. Mixing of the two is called by the Gemorah Pesachim (76B) Sakanta – dangerous to eat. The Shulchan Aruch in Yoreh Deah 116:2 says that for this reason. one must take a drink or eat something in between fish and meat. The Ramah forbids even cooking fish and meat in the same oven at the same time due to the vapors that would mix.
